RE: Quantitative Research Scientist

Dear recruiting team,

I am glad to have found your company on LinkedIn. I am a ML Researcher, who loves analyzing recent advancements in the domain of algorithms for AI. I can surprise you by sharing some of my studies. I recently started writing on Medium, and you may want to check my interests.

I'm excited to be working full-time for the role of Quantitative Research Scientist. My research and professional experience coupled with my interests in finance make me a suitable candidate. I want to explore the path of Finance, because I want to pursue it as a profession and not just as hobby. I have shared the publications and certification links on my resume for verification.

How can I start the interview process?

Best,

SOUGATO BAGCHI
